Colachi Ke Charcoal Se - Chicken tikka is a chicken dish originating in South Asia where it remains popular in India. It is traditionally small pieces of boneless chicken baked using skewers in a clay oven - after marinating in spices and yogurt—essentially a boneless version of tandoori chicken. The word tikka means "bits" or "pieces". It is also a chicken dish served in Punjabi cuisine. The Punjabi version of the dish, however, is grilled over red-hot coals, and does not always contain boneless pieces. It is typically eaten with green chutney and tamarind chutney served with onion rings and lemon.
